

Nicolas Mirzayantz and his wife, Princess Alexandra of Greece, at her baby shower.

Baby Boom

Giorgio Armani's chic Central Park West apartment—all sleek edges and earth tones—hardly looked ready for a baby shower on June 6. But then, it wasn't an ordinary shower. Princess Alexandra of Greece, the guest of honor, had her baby two months ago. "I was too superstitious to have the shower in advance," she explained. And instead of bringing onesies and rattles, well-heeled guests like Lillian Wang von Stauffenberg, Renee Rockefeller, and Rufus and Sally Albemarle made donations to Room to Grow, an organization that provides support to low-income families during the first years of their babies' lives. "I mean, really," Princess Alexandra said, surveying the room. "Does any of us need more stuff?"

AMY LAROCCA

Photographs by

Patrick McMullan